Odyssey 2 - First Impressions

What I most valued about the weekend...

"Meeting other Christians and finding out their opinions."

"The love of God."

"The opportunity to step outside my own life and consider spiritual issues that you don't have time for during the week. It's been wonderful to talk to like-minded Christians and also to spend time with my family which is quite a rare thing anyway!"

"The fellowship, the speakers."

"I came to see Garth Hewitt sing and heard a whole load of speakers with a passion for Christ's world and not only that but I met a whole bunch of ordinary people, young and old, who have been infected with this passion for Christ."

"Learning more about Jesus."

"At the fair there were lots of new and interesting ideas and the opportunity to walk the prayer labyrinth was especially good."

"The sense of unity and purpose and enthusiasm from everybody here."

"The final day was wonderful... to go the way of the cross."

"It isn't just about my personal faith. Christ is passionate for me and he wants me to express his passion in the world around me and that's come across again and again."

A bible study group

“Coming from a small parish it’s great to meet so many people from across the diocese, but above all it’s to understand that God is at work whether it’s in the third world or the inner-city or fenland.”

Passionate for Christ – Embracing God’s World were the twin strands of the theme of the Odyssey 2 weekend at Caister on 4th – 6th April. More than fifty children and young people together with nearly two hundred adults explored the theme in large plenary sessions, in small bible study groups, through games and discussions, in programmes of hands-on activity and sport, over meal table conversations, in the bar or walking on the beach, through an interactive fair and video booth, an evening entertainment and worship which was at once both traditional and creative ... Steve Cottrell held the theme together as we responded to the stimulus and challenge of our guest speakers – Nerissa Jones, Rose Hudson Wilkin, Prema Christian, Garth Hewitt and Pete McCahon – and finally spent Passion Sunday morning exploring the suffering and death of Christ through a whole variety of participative activities seeking to make the call real for ourselves – to grow in the stature of our discipleship, embracing God’s world with Christlike passion.

“The affirmation that our church must be outward looking and not focussed on its own internal working but the needs of the community it finds itself in.”

“I’m going away knowing that with the prayer and support of all the people it’s down to me to see God’s work is done.”

“The priorities for the church are God’s priorities and if we are already spending resources and time on buildings, it’s even more necessary to put God’s priorities at the top of the list.”

“We’ve learnt that Sunday worship is to nourish us to go out and look for God’s needs in the community and roll up our sleeves and tackle them, and I hope that’s what we’re all going to do.”

Schools Plus pages are written by Dr Shirley Hall, Schools RE Adviser who can be contacted on 01353 652712

Would your pupils like to make penpal links with church schools in Birmingham Diocese?

Schools frequently like to make links with other areas of the country and the world. These kinds of friendship links also have many curriculum spin-offs in Literacy, ICT, RE and Geography. Following conversations with the Diocese of Birmingham, we in the Diocese of Ely are hoping to set up school to school links between the church schools in our two dioceses.

If you are interested in following this up, please contact Shirley on ☎ 01353 652712 or ✉ shirley.hall@ely.anglican.org

Eco-Congratulations to St Augustine's Woodston!

Our congratulations go to Steve Cutts and the school at St Augustine's Woodston for being the first school in Cambridgeshire to achieve the prestigious Eco-Schools Green Flag Award! In a year when we have been promoting Eco Schools throughout our church schools, it is wonderful to hear of successes like these – well done to everyone.

And thank you Nigel!

We would also like to use these pages to say thank you to Revd Nigel Tuffnell, the Bishop's Environmental Adviser, for all the hard work he has put in over the last year in visiting and supporting schools who expressed an interest in the Church Schools Eco-Schools initiative. Nigel will be moving to the Diocese of Leicester in May, but we hope to work with his successor to continue to support Eco Schools.

The 2003 RE Trip is Walsingham!

Saturday 7th June

Every year we organise a Saturday RE Trip in the Summer Term for teachers, friends and family, and this time we have chosen a unique Christian venue in our neighbouring diocese of Norwich –

The Shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham.

Walsingham has an excellent educational programme in place for school visitors of all ages and we have arranged with the education team to visit the Shrine, Slipper Chapel and Abbey grounds, as well as having detailed input on the many different opportunities for school visits. Walsingham is able to offer visits to support not only RE work, but also History, Art and Geography, as well as the opportunity to “meet a nun”, which is very popular with pupils! Of course, as with all our trips, there will also be time for shopping and to look for artefacts and books that will support your teaching of Christianity.

This time we are offering a “menu” of costs for the trip, recognising that several participants might find it easier to make their way to the shrine in their own transport. We are therefore asking for £8 to cover the INSET cost and entrance fees to the Abbey, and for a further £5.80p if you wish to have lunch at the centre (there are other places to eat in the village).

Those who wish to travel to Walsingham by coach are asked for an additional £20 per head (pick ups at Bar Hill, Cambridge, Ely and Downham Market).

Interested? Contact Shirley on ☎ 01353 652712 or ✉ shirley.hall@ely.anglican.org to book places.

And those popular materials for Foundation Schools...

Are joined by Key Stage One Schemes of Work...

Last term's RE Liaison Groups were a terrific success with over 175 sets of Foundation schemes of work being distributed to Foundation practitioners and RE co-ordinators.

The materials are now generally available on the Ely Diocesan website at www.ely.anglican.org/schools

Their author, Penny Kite, of Barton School, spent last term as a Farmington Fellow producing new schemes of work for Key Stage One RE. These schemes are written in the same style as Penny's Foundation work and fit to the Cambridgeshire Agreed Syllabus. Penny is looking for volunteers to trial her KS1 schemes over this term and the autumn, prior to their publication. If you are interested in following this up then you can contact Penny on pennykite@hotmail.com

Governor Training Opportunities

There are two sessions on offer this term for Church School Governors as part of the Cambridgeshire Support and Development Programme. They are both on the subject of Church School Ethos (and could be especially helpful for those anticipating an OFSTED and Section 23 Inspection in the near future).

These will take place at St Luke's School, Cambridge on 13th May (Course DIN5) and St Peter's Junior School, Wisbech on 16th June (Course DIN6).

Places on these courses should be booked through the Cambridgeshire system either by calling ☎ 01223 717288 or

✉ governor.training@cambridgeshire.gov.uk

Governors from Peterborough and Norfolk will also be most welcome to join in with these events, but please book through the Diocesan Board of Education & Training by contacting Sarah Sheffield on ☎ 01353 652724.

All courses last from 7pm – 9pm.

Church Schools Headteachers' Conference at Ely - 13th June 2003

This year's day conference will spend the morning looking at handling stress in a Christian school and the afternoon will concentrate on opportunities for schools and staff to develop, such as Investors in People or personal sabbaticals. Booking details will reach schools soon.

Autumn Cathedral Days

This Autumn Term the big Cathedral Days will take the form of Music Festivals based on the Psalms;

teaching opportunities will be linked to Harvest, and the Jewish festival of Succoth (Tabernacles). We are hoping for singing, dancing, stories and a great act of celebration and worship to finish the day.

Booking for the Church Schools Cathedral Days has already closed, with demand for places outstripping the 1600 pupil places available. There are a second set of days for Community Schools on 14th and 15th October and Church Schools are welcome to book places on these in the normal way. Interested schools should contact Mrs Jan Munt at the Cathedral Centre on ☎ 01353 659668.

One of the 2002 Cathedral Days

Places on these events cannot be booked through the Diocesan Office.

Our Visitors from Vellore

During the first half of this term two of the three visitors from Cambridgeshire Ecumenical Council's partner diocese of Vellore (Church of South India) will be in our schools.

Mrs Sheela, a teacher, has an intensive

Mrs Sheela centre front with staff from her school

timetable of school visits, while Revd Aruldoss will also visit some schools as part of his programme.

Revd Aruldoss holds the senior position of Convenor for the Elementary Schools of Vellore Diocese and is involved in the appointment of every teacher to a church school! We hope that as they move around the diocese.

We shall also be spending some time

Revd Aruldoss with his family discussing how we can foster links between church schools in Ely and Vellore – we shall share the result of our deliberations with you soon. Meanwhile we would like to warmly welcome Mrs Sheela, Revd Aruldoss and Mr Alfred to Cambridgeshire; we look forward to sharing with you.

Godly Play Training - Summer Term 2003

One Day Basic Study Days

Tuesday 13th May 10am-4pm

Saturday 17th May 10am – 4pm

Cost:- £20 for a single individual, £15 for more than one person from the same organisation. The cost includes lunch and all handouts and materials.

Three evening basic study sessions

(this provides the same as a one day course)

Thursdays 26th June, 3rd and 10th July

7.30pm – 9.30pm

Cost:- £15 for a single individual, £10 for more than one person from the same organisation. There is obviously no lunch provided.

Tell a Story, Learn a Story

11th June and 25th June 7.30pm-9.30pm

Two separate evening sessions for people already using Godly Play. For these sessions we are inviting people to bring a story that they have learnt and share it with the group.

It is often easier to learn a story that you have seen told, so by this means we may increase the repertoire of stories of those using Godly Play and at the same time, story tellers will have the experience of wondering with some fellow practitioners and have the opportunity to reflect on experiences and share useful tips.

Sign up for one or both sessions.

Please let us know on the booking form which stories you would like to tell so that we can provide a series of different stories.

Obviously it would be a good idea to avoid the Good Shepherd! It will be helpful if you can offer alternatives. Non-storytellers are also welcome of course – you can come simply to learn some stories. But it is important to have some knowledge of Godly Play for these sessions.

There will be time for about 3 stories on each evening so there is no obligation to be a storyteller!

Cost:- £3 per evening.

All these events in the Godly Play Room at Trumpington. Please make cheques payable to Ely DBE re Godly Play.

There is more information about Godly Play to be found at www.godlyplay.org.uk and on the diocesan website.

The Complete Guide to Godly Play is now in the course of publication. This consists of an introductory handbook and, in the first instance, 3 manuals, each containing the text of 14 stories. These replace the spiral bound books and represent a significant development on the material to be found in Young Children and Worship (the orange book!) Volumes 1 - 4 are now available.

The Complete Guide to Godly Play:

Volume 1: How to lead Godly Play Lessons 1-889108-95-2, Volume 2: 14 Presentations for Fall 1-889108-96-0, Volume 3: 20 Presentations for Winter 1-889108-97-9, Volume 4: 20 Presentations for Spring 1-889108-98-7

All by Jerome Berryman and published by Living the Good News, Denver, Colorado.

Resources Evening at Huntingdon

Thursday 5th June, 7.30-9.30 at St Barnabas Church, Huntingdon

This evening is a chance to come and hear about and then browse some of the more recent material available for working with children and young people. David Waters and Gill Ambrose will introduce you to things they find particularly inspiring at present and there will be time also for participants to share tips with one another.

There is no charge for this event and you do not need to pre-book.

Child Protection Matters

The Criminal Records Bureau

From Easter the diocese will be in a position to extend Criminal Records Bureau checks (Disclosures) to all new volunteers appointed to work with children, young people and vulnerable adults in our churches. A package of information has been sent out to all clergy. If you need help with this, please ask. Disclosure Application Forms are available from Marion Howard in the Bishop of Ely's office. If you need support in working out how to implement this in your parish, contact Gill Ambrose.

Training

2 evenings of basic child protection training for people working in church based youth and children's activities. This course provides fundamental information and provides time also for individuals to raise their own questions and concerns about this very important area of our work.

Both sessions led by Gill Ambrose and David Waters

Monday 12th May at Meldreth Church Room at 7.30pm

Monday 16th June at Emneth, 7.30pm

Please let us know that you are coming by sending in the booking form.

New Patterns for Worship

If you plan and/or lead all-age worship then this book is for you. It is a collection of words and resources to help people build services. The material is arranged thematically in such a way that you can find words for each part of a service. But this is not all! The book is also a training manual. It provides useful advice about all sorts of aspects of developing and planning services. We can read the stories of St Anne's, a big town congregation, St Bartholomew's, a small country church, St Christopher's, an inner city church community, and St Dodo's – where everything always goes wrong. (And in case you are wondering, yes, there really was a St Dodo: he was a Belgian abbot and he died in 750!)

All-age worship is a growing feature of church life and the Children's Council offers a course, based on New Patterns for Worship, to help people involved in this. For more information look at the Ed&T pages on the diocesan website.

Will Our Faith Have Children?

This was the title of a national conference of the American Episcopal (ie Anglican) church which I was privileged to attend in February as one of a very small party of invited British delegates.

It proved to be an overwhelmingly inspiring experience and I have returned renewed and with a great deal to share. Those who attended Odyssey 2 at Caister early in April will have experienced just a little of this.

The conference was multi-ethnic, people of the many cultures which American church embraces were fully involved; but it was also multi-aged and 'multi-ministerial' – there were bishops and clergy as well as lay children's workers and children themselves present. We were aware of the great richness of the people of God, and the diversity of gifts that we have to offer one another.

Of course, America is a much larger nation and the American church seems to be much wealthier than ours. But what we learnt was not dependent on money, it required an understanding and commitment to the richness of our tradition, an openness to one another and a willingness to be bold and take risks in the service of Christ and the children of his church. I have copies of the report of the conference which we have produced on our return.

Do let me know if you would like one. Meanwhile, some of what we learnt and brought back will be available at the Resources Evening at Huntingdon on 5th June.

Children and Holy Communion

At the Diocesan Synod in March a motion was passed asking all parishes to consider the issue of admitting children to Holy Communion before they are confirmed. In some churches children are now regular communicants and some churches have taken the decision that this is not the right step for them.

In some communities, however, the question has not yet been addressed, and this is now a positive encouragement to look at this matter. It is a half hour at the end of the PCC agenda item, for in addressing it we need to think deeply about the ways in which children come close to God and grow in faith. It is about baptism and church community and journeying together – accompaniment.

And it is about acknowledging the presence of God in our lives and communities in ways that can only be known and expressed symbolically, non-verbally. And it is at the heart of the way in which we share our faith with a new generation of Christians.

If you would like to explore this further then members of the Children's Council would be delighted to help you. Please ask.

Contact Gill Ambrose or Ros Wright in the Resources Centre and we will put you in touch with someone to work with you.

An introductory leaflet is also available.

Seasonal Worship from the Countryside

I came across this wonderful book recently and it is packed with inspiration for those planning worship for all ages.

A sense of thankfulness and concern for the earth is a powerful starting point for faith in many contemporary situations but with the exception of Harvest and Rogationtide (enjoying a recent revival) the church has not been as good as it might be at responding to this.

This book is simple, direct and very clearly set out and offers many ideas for community based celebrations: a Christmas tree festival based on the Jesse Tree idea, a street nativity, a little play for Holy Week, a Rogationtide walk, a celebration of the world in summer based on the hymn 'All things bright and beautiful' and Rider's Sunday, as well as much more. It is a real tool for worship-based evangelism.

If I were God I'd say sorry

Robert Kirkwood
Hodder and Stoughton £6.99

This book looks at the great question of the Problem of Evil. Focussing on three questions which are often the starting point for examining this sort of question, the book explores the issues in a simple and direct way through language and cartoons that are readily accessible.

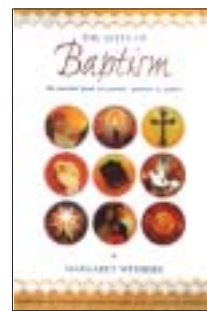

The book is profound, yet challenging and is suitable, I would say, for children who are 10+ and the adults who work with them! This is an area on which there have been few publications for children, yet children frequently raise these questions.

A wise parent or children's worker would find it useful to have ready on their shelves and even the professionally theologically educated might find it provides a helpful way of communicating in the every day world about issues that they have studied at an academic level.

The Gifts of Baptism

Margaret Withers
BRF £4.99

The book introduces the baptism service by following the story of a little boy and his baby sister who are preparing to be baptised. The texts of the service are introduced and the symbols of baptism are explored. Biblical understandings of baptism are also present. The book is a response to a keenly felt need for a resource of this nature and will be extremely useful to use with families whose children are to be baptised. At £5 it might even be possible for a church to consider giving it as a present to families preparing for a child's baptism.

Moving Mountains

'Young People in rural areas'

The National Forum for the Development of Rural Youth Work and The Rural Media Company are creating a way for young people (aged 13 and 21) living in rural areas to express their feelings and views of living in their community.

The development of a 'Rural Media Arts Project' creates an opportunity for young people to express their thoughts by using a variety of art forms including poetry, songs, cartoons, photography, computer design or short stories. This will lead to young people having their work displayed in a National Exhibition or published in a National Publication. Information packs and entry details are available from the National Forum by contacting Sarah Hope on 0116 285 3785 or by email: nfdryw@nya.org.uk

Are you thinking of taking a group of young people abroad?

'CROSSING FRONTIERS' will help your youth leaders prepare young people for an overseas trip. It's full of practical ideas and activities covering topics about certain countries.

It looks at issues such as human rights, preconceptions, cultural difference and attitudes towards racism. Whether it's a visit to Italy, Spain or Botswana, this book will be invaluable.

Even if your group isn't going away, there's still material for your youth group to discuss and raise the groups awareness of such issues.

I think this pack will prove to be invaluable when used in our parishes – particularly those where 'racism' has already raised its head.

A copy of your own (or for your church) will cost £15 and is produced by the Commonwealth Youth Exchange Council and Christian Aid.

Youth Group Topics

– the Ultimate Collection!

This pack contains 25 of the best 'Youth Topics' sheets. These have been fully updated and revised with up-to-date and relevant information. It is an excellent companion for 'The Discovery Wheel' because much of the data and information supplied in templates at the back of 'Discovery Wheel' are now out of date.

This new pack means we can still use 'The Discovery Wheel' Youth Topics' as worksheets and discussion starters. It includes a range of creative and fun activities on global issues such as 'sport', the environment, citizenship, debt and there is even one about chocolate and how best to enjoy it! There is also new material on prayer, worship and follow-up support, resources and contacts.

This is an excellent resource for churches beginning new groups in the Autumn. It is written particularly with youth groups in mind – but would suit older age groups also.

Published by CAFOD and Christian Aid it is supplied in 'ring-binder' form and costs £11.99. Both books are available from Christian Aid. Contact Christian Aid direct on 0171 620 4444. <http://www.christianaid.org.uk/>

The Art of 14-18's

This book (a copy is in your Deanery Youth-work Resources Boxes) offers practical help to youth leaders, ministers and teams.

With its mix of bible readings, prayer pointers, real-life stories, games and activities, it provides your church with ready-made sessions to save time with group work preparation. Contact your rural dean or David Waters if you don't know who holds your deanery resource boxes.

There are more copies of this book at the Resources centre. If you want your own copy, the ISBN is 1 85999 170, costs £7 and is available from Scripture Union.
